

THE CLIMAX.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 31, 1887.

Big fire at Lebanon Monday night.
Lawrenceburg had a $20,000 fire, last week insurance, $18,000.
The express office has returned to its old stand on second street.
Greenleaf & Crooks Fire Insurance Agents of this city, have $21,200.
Stephen K. Ashley, of Berea, has been granted a pension.
Now for a great big opera house and a big hotel on the ruins.
Miss Mary B. Miller will receive pupils in music from September 5th at her residence on Lancaster Avenue.
Boys, Central University will open on Wednesday, September 14th. Think the subject over and see if you do not want to attend.

Mr. Rufus Lisle, of Fayette, purchased the farm of Mrs. Mary Duke, consisting of 518 acres, near Georgetown, at $70 per acre, last week—Versailles Sun.
S. P. Kerfous bought about 60,000 bushels of wheat at an average price of 66c. He has shipped none of it but is grinding it at the rate of 50 bushels per day.—Winchester Democrat.

Barriers continue across Second street at corners of Irvine and Moberly streets, the large culvert in the hollow still undergoing repairs. All passage by way of First and Third streets.
Natural gas was discovered near Mr. Stirling being a well, while boring for oil, and the casing produced by its rushing from the well could be "heard at a distance of two miles," says the Sevier Democrat.

Mr. Brutus Crooke, of Kansas City, Mo., is visiting the family of his brother, Mr. John W. Crooke. He was formerly Cashier in the banking-house of Walker & Co., that afterwards became what is now the First National Bank. Mr. Crooke went to Kansas City about twelve years ago, first engaged in mercantile business and afterwards in real estate. Like all other Madison county men who have gone to Kansas City, Mr. Crooke is much pleased with the city. He says he had thirty-five thousand inhabitants when he went there and now has two hundred thousand.

Rome Under Nero.
The last excursion over the Kentucky Central to see Rome under Nero, will occur on next Saturday, at $2 for the round trip. Can return same day. Last performance of the great attraction.

Quarterly Meeting.
The pastor, W. E. Arnold, assisted by Presiding Elder J. W. Fitch, held quarterly meeting at the Methodist church of this place last week. Mr. R. C. Kirby and wife and Mrs. Mink were received into the church by letter and Miss Mattie Peyton and Mr. C. W. Cobb, by baptism. Miss Peyton was immersed in the baptistry at the Baptist church Saturday evening and Mr. Cobb in Mr. Branstetter's pond Sunday afternoon the baptistry being not in working order at that time.

Dancing.
Madame Boshnell will organize another class in dancing. A number of new dances, both round and square, will be taught. Special attention given to children in fancy dancing and callisthenics.

Portfolio Found.
Near Union City, a week or two ago, found a large portfolio, one side paper board, and the other oil cloth. It contains several maps and diagrams of Richmond, Silver Creek, Foxtown, Muddy Creek, &c.; artistically done, and belongs either to an insurance agent or a Government officer. An envelope and letter heads containing name of Linden House, Palace, Tennessee, will be taught. Special attention given to children in fancy dancing and callisthenics.

The Gas Well.
Boring continues, and has now reached a depth of about eleven hundred feet. Neither gas nor water of consequence has been struck. The small pocket of gas found some days ago continues to fill the well sufficiently to blaze up momentarily when a match is applied. Another thousand feet, and probably five hundred feet that will be bored unless water or gas is sooner found.

Heat Record.
An exchange says that Wm. M. Taylor, of Lexington, has kept a record report of the thermometer for fifteen years. He says the months of July and August are unprecedented for heat, during the time he has kept his record. He thinks that for two months past the thermometer has averaged as high as 90 degrees. The hottest day on his record is in August, 1883, when the thermometer reached 105.

Sale of Town Lots.
As Special Commissioner in the case of Dimeson against Ford, Mr. Henry C. Hargis will on Friday, September 16th, sell publicly to the highest bidder, twenty-eight lots in the town of Ford on Kentucky Central Railroad at crossing of Kentucky River. The lots lie in the corner formed by the railroad and the new turnpike that runs to Booneborough. Ford is a live town with four large mills, a fifth in completion, two hotels, a church, school, a number of stores, &c.

After Them.
Deputy Collector, W. E. Varnon, says he intends to prosecute in the U. S. Court every man convicted of violating the prohibition laws in this county, if he finds that a case can be made against him. He has already gotten out the papers against the two Kings Mountain whisky sellers in jail and they will likely be taken to Louisville as soon as their time is served. Mr. Varnon has investigated the case against Ed Hood and finds that it is not sufficient to warrant a federal prosecution.—Stanford Journal.

"The Same Here, Pete."
We agree with the Louisville Post in the subjoined paragraph: Evangelist Barnes, preaching at Morehead, regrets that he did not sooner comply with Craig Tulliver's invitation to visit that place, and exclaims: "Oh, that I could have been here before that fatal 23d (June) when the writer lost his life!" In view of recent events it is extremely fortunate that for Kentucky that the mountain exhorter had pressing engagements elsewhere on that fateful occasion.

Snake Story.
"Stump" Miller, Steve Ross and Joe Fox went fishing down at Ozark's mill dam in Muddy Creek, one night last week. They caught some fine bass and other fish, and saw a blind snake six feet long and as large around as a man's arm. They shot at it and ran. "Stump" being the first to see it, he was the first to be attacked by the snake. He was thrown into the water and nearly drowned. The other two men, seeing this, rushed to his aid and pulled him out. They then went home and applied to the doctor. He was badly hurt, but is now recovering.

K. C. Extension.
Mr. Jas. E. Brown, of Covington, has returned from Cincinnati, Ky., where he has been buying real estate and viewing the route of the extension of the Kentucky Central, which will soon be pushed to the Gap to meet the Knoxville road, which will also be built to that point. Knoxville, a few days ago, voted $200,000 subscription for that road, with but 15 dissenting votes.—Paris News.

Is He Going?
The subjoined paragraph from the Danville Advocate indicates that Mr. George McLeod, late of this place, is going to Boyle county. He was formerly a member of the Danville Central, which will soon be pushed to the Gap to meet the Knoxville road, which will also be built to that point. Knoxville, a few days ago, voted $200,000 subscription for that road, with but 15 dissenting votes.—Paris News.

Land for Sale.
An special commissioner in the case of John G. Henson's administrator, &c., against Elizabeth Henson, &c., Mr. Samuel G. Henson will, on Friday September 16th, in the town of Berea, sell the lands owned by John G. Henson at the time of his death, consisting of four tracts—43, 227, 100 acres and a lot in Berea. Also several tracts in Rockcastle county. At the same time S. D. Parrish will sell 26 acres of the Lee tract, near Berea.

Louisville Southern.
A Danville gentleman while in Nicholasville last week had a conversation with Major Ruggles, division engineer of the Louisville Southern concerning the progress of work on the road and the proposed route to the mountains. Major Ruggles stated that he was preparing to survey a line from Lawrenceburg to Nicholasville via Versailles, thence to Richmond. A proposition Danville he said that he expected to locate the road between here and Harrodsburg as soon as he finished the preliminary of the line to Richmond.—Danville Advocate.

Nearly Drowned.
A Washington special of Wednesday says: A Washingtonian who has returned from Capon Springs brings the information of the recent narrow escape from drowning of Mr. Goodloe, the wife of Maj. Goodloe, of the marine corps, and daughter of Senator Beck. She was bathing with some friends in the ladies' pool, which is very deep in some places. While ascending the slippery steps that leads into the pool, her foot slipped and she fell into deep water, and was unable to extricate herself. A couple of workmen heard the screams of the other ladies, and, hastening to the door of the building, plunged into the water and were just in time to rescue her. They were both liberally rewarded by Maj. Goodloe.

Mill Barlow Free.
Mill Barlow, the famous Kentucky minstrel, who has been in Ludlow Street Jail, New York, for seven months, has obtained a writ of habeas corpus, calling upon the State to put him free before Judge Donohue, in the Supreme Court Chambers. Barlow's wife caused his imprisonment. She brought suit for divorce last March. At that time Barlow ran a minstrel troupe with Thacker, Primrose & West, during which time his wife and children traveled with him. Mrs. Barlow became jealous of Miss Kitty Hall, of Hall & Bloodgood's burlesque troupe, and leaving him brought suit for divorce at Rochester. She obtained an order directing her husband to pay her $30 a month temporary alimony. He could not pay it and was lodged in Ludlow Street Jail. Mrs. Barlow got her divorce April 29th, and Barlow was ordered to pay her $1,500 a year alimony. Barlow says business reverses left him without a dollar.—Paris News.

M. F. L.
On Monday, September 12th, Madison Female Institute will open for the school year. A full and competent corps of teachers has been employed. Prof. C. P. Williamson, as President and principal teacher heads the list. Prof. H. C. Hugerman, A. M., for ten years at Bethany College, and late of Hamilton College, is Professor of Latin and Greek. Prof. W. D. McClintock, A. M., of Chattanooga, University, Lecturer in English; Miss Carrie D. Anderson, of Virginia, five years Lady Principal Female Institute, Charlottesville, Teacher of History, Rhetoric and Grammar; Miss Nellie Gaugh, of Lexington, Principal of Primary Department; with Miss Katie V. Payne, of Fayette, as assistant; Miss Fannie Lander, of Lexington, Teacher of Mathematics, and assistant in Natural History and Latin; Miss Annie Howell, of Louisville, Art Teacher; Miss Mollie Kyle, of New York, Teacher of Music. The authority excellent management heretofore observed under the presidency of Prof. Williamson, will be maintained.

Cleveland and Francis.
A St. Louis telegram announces that President Cleveland and wife will reach that city on Saturday, October 14th, and proceed immediately to the residence of Mayor D. R. Francis, whose guests they will be until the following Monday, when they will move to the Southern Hotel. The St. Louis Republic, the principal Democratic newspaper of the West, some time ago suggested (Cleveland) and this visit may lead to a consummation of the scheme. As Mayor Francis is a native and former resident of Richmond it is probable that a good large delegation will go out to St. Louis and see how the President and wife look in a Madison county suit. The trip to St. Louis will be in progress. Let's get a party even larger than the one that went to Mr. Sterling. We are for Cleveland and Francis. The Presidential party will proceed to Madison Wisconsin, where they will be the guests of Secretary Vilas; thence to Nashville, Tennessee, where they will be the guests of Senator Howell Jenson.

Killed.
A Paint Lick correspondent says: Tuesday evening William Wearren was killed accidentally by a pistol shot. He and the Arnold, John Lackey and Dave Evans were on their way home from Lancaster, where they had been summoned before the grand jury. They had their pistols lying on the seat of the buggy under them, for they expected to be attacked by the Best boys at any time. When they had got near Jerry Higgins's, about three miles from this place, John Lackey's pistol fell from the seat and went off, the ball striking Will Wearren just below the right ear killing him instantly.

"Welcome Madison."
THE CLIMAX announced last week that the Montgomery Ball Club would entertain the members of the Madison Club and the Richmond Social Club at Mr. Sterling on Thursday night. The Madison Club, in pursuance thereof, contained a splendid party of Madison county people bound for Mt. Sterling, namely: Mrs. John D. Harris, Mrs. C. D. Chennault, Mrs. Thomas Phelps, Mrs. T. D. Chennault, Mrs. Samuel Bennett, Jr., Miss Nettie Stockton, Miss Lela Chennault, Miss Mary B. Harris, Miss Katie Phelps, Miss Callie Chennault, Miss Della Ramsey, Miss Mary Burman, Miss Annie Chennault, Miss Mamie Baldwin, Miss Lizzie Bennett, Miss Mattie Chennault, Miss Elvise Bennett, Miss Mary Chennault, ex-Senator John Bennett, Judge Thomas J. Scott, and Messrs. R. T. Irvine, C. C. Hughes, R. H. McCreary, W. S. Hume, W. R. Shackelford, W. R. McDowell, O. H. Chennault, H. W. Bright, T. J. Smith, J. E. B. Hume, Harvey McDowell, F. B. Carr, Harvey Chennault, C. B. Hume, D. B. Shackelford, Sam Bennett, Jr., and others. Also Mr. Wm. Osage, of Lancaster.

At Winchester a special train was waiting, and no time was lost in proceeding to the city of destination. A delegation met the guests at the depot, and sooner than we can tell it, all were distributed among friends or taken to the hotel.

At 9 o'clock, the spacious ball-room in Masonic Temple was filled with the guests from Madison and their hosts and hostesses of Montgomery. Mrs. Dr. Poyntz and Miss Lela Bronston, accompanied by Miss Lester, of Washington, D. C., presided at the Madison party. Among the guests from Montgomery were Miss Stella Chennault, Miss Jennie Fox, Miss Lillian Samuels, Mrs. Squire Turner, Mrs. Charles Carpenter, Mrs. Tom Fox, Mrs. James Gatewood, Mrs. H. R. French, Miss Cora Tipton, Miss Willie May Bean, Miss Jessie Chennault, Louisville, Mr. John H. Stuart, of Winchester, was the only visiting gentleman besides those already mentioned. Messrs. Reed Rogers, Bob Gatewood, C. C. Turner, D. T. Apperson, Correll Hamilton, C. D. Gibbs, H. W. B. Samuels, C. C. Chennault, and L. B. Bridges were the gentlemen who seemed to be in charge of the affair, and that is equivalent to saying that it could not have been done more satisfactorily. We also observed Messrs. Jeff Cockrell, C. and Ed Grubbs, Charles Gay, Tom Fesler, Frank Samuels, Bob Loyd, Edgar Bland, Ed Jones, Jimmie Galt, Charles Jody, Tom Bigstaff, John Roberts, Ray Curry, David Thurston, Ben Bosworth, C. L. Gayle, T. G. Julian, Robert Winn, D. C. Talbot, J. Turner White, Walter Chennault, C. C. Hamilton, Judge Howard French, Judge Squire Turner, and others whose names we failed to obtain.

The ball room was tastefully decorated, and on the wall in massive letters wrought of cedar were the words, "Welcome Madison." Dancing began at 9:30 o'clock, and everybody had everybody else's name on his or her program, an exquisite eight-page list of printing, and gliding adorned with satin ribbon and petite pencils. At midnight the entire party was conducted to the great dining-room elsewhere in the Temple, and a most tempting lunch was found, more than ample the large number of participants. The lunch was prepared by Miss Emma Calk, proprietor of the Turner House, down on Main street by the big church, at which hotel the gentlemen from Madison all stopped. Miss Calk directed her numerous waiters in such a skillful manner that everybody was waited upon in the shortest possible manner, and the lunch was pronounced superb.

Dancing continued until 5 o'clock. The costumes were exceedingly elaborate, and a happier time has not been had since that royal old time when the fatted calf was killed.

NOTES.
Trost & Saxton's orchestra made the music. Hon. Thomas Turner, the well-known former Richmond man, could not conveniently attend the ball, but sent his wife, two daughters and seven sons, five of the sons being on an average more than six feet tall, and we think the gentlemen ought to be excused for non-attendance.

The Madison boys say they never had as fine a time in all their lives. There were fifteen Chennaults in the ball-room, and nine others who were related to them. A large number of spectators occupied the dress circle and gallery, and looked on approvingly. As evidenced by the Club party in Richmond, so the Mt. Sterling ball indicated that trails are more popular than heretofore. Mr. Holden, of the Gazette, and two reporters, were present, fashion-plating the lady participants. The Sevier Democrat man had gone to Roman county to look after Taylor Young. The Montgomery county people can come over to Richmond whenever they find it convenient; the bars are down.

PERSONAL.
Mrs. E. C. Hall, of New York, is visiting Mrs. J. Stone Walker. Mr. A. C. Clowers, who has been ill from Lancaster, is now convalescent. Mr. W. N. Reeves, of Montgomery county, was in town on business this week. Mrs. L. G. Mead and daughter, of Henry county, are guests in the family of Mrs. Sarah Delamett.

Judge R. Y. Bush, wife and daughter, Miss Edith, who have been visiting Hon. W. T. Tevis, will leave this week for their home in Hawesville, Ky. Capt. J. J. Carson, well known to most of our readers, was in town last week. He is living at Eldorado, Kansas, and is much pleased with the country. So far as business is concerned, but otherwise would prefer Kentucky. He says Kansas will be a Democratic State in the near future. He reports Mrs. Carson and the children in their usual good health.

Judge H. S. Douthitt, of Howard, Kansas, called at our office on Monday last. Judge Douthitt was raised at College Hill in this county, and is a graduate of the Law Department at Louisville of Central University. The friends of his early manhood in this county will be glad to know that he is doing well in the practice of law, his chosen profession. Hon. James B. McCreary, our popular Congressman, arrived last night and will today attend the Fair and meet hundreds of his friends of this county—the week being just full of them. He has not missed attending the Lawrenceburg Fair for a number of years, and we echo the wishes of everybody when we say here's hoping he never will.—Lawrenceburg News.

RELIGIOUS.
We hear that Miss Morrison preached a series of sermons at Doyleville, last week. Elder J. W. Harding and Elder Morrison are holding a protracted meeting at Flatwoods. Fifteen additions to Sunday night.

Rev. P. T. Hale reached home on Wednesday last, greatly improved in health by his trip to the old country.—Danville Advocate.

Elder L. H. Reynolds and Prof. C. P. Williamson are conducting a protracted meeting at Pond church. It will hold over Sunday. Two additions Sunday night. Preaching day and night—10:30 and 7:30.

Sam Jones has a brother named John, said to be a better preacher than Sam. The latter is to conduct a camp-meeting at Reasonville, Ark., Sept. 6, and will "root out" his brother in a new State for the first time.

Rev. J. D. Simmons, assisted by Rev. J. L. Wills, is conducting a series of meetings at Powell's Valley church in Powell county. Later—the meeting closed Sunday night with fifteen additions.—Winchester Sun.

At Evansville, Ind., Rev. Thos. G. Keen, a prominent Baptist minister, died of paralysis, aged 72 years. In this State, he had charge of churches at Louisville, Mayville and Hopkinsville, the latter place for 25 years. Funeral at Hopkinsville.

Elder J. C. McQuerry, formerly of this county, but now of Yates Center, who is visiting his family and friends in this State, has just closed a week's meeting at Republican church in the county with 37 additions. He left on Tuesday for East city, where he will engage in another series of meetings.—Lancaster Journal.

DIED.
Mrs. Cynthia Stunt, wife of AGO G. Stunt, died at her home in Richmond, Ky., on Monday night, August 30, 1887, aged about 77 years. Remains taken to Carlisle.

NEWS PARAGRAPHS.
At Topeka, Kas., the barn in which the police horses were kept was set on fire and destroyed, four horses and one man being hurled to death. The latter was afterwards found to be G. C. Grayes, Lieutenant, Colonel of the Second Iowa Cavalry, during the late war, and Reiguer General of the Kansas National Guard during the administration of Gov. Gluck. The marriage of Mr. Orlington, the elderly millionaire of Paris, and pretty Miss Georgia Maize, of this city, will be solemnized early in the brown and near month of October. It will be a grand wedding in every detail, and will give society something to talk about and talk about for many days. It is understood that there will be about twenty attendants and a lavish display of dressing—Louisville Truth Sayings.

Mr. Jno. L. Burke who lives in this county near Pleasant Hill, was going to Washington county, on Thursday of last week, when within a mile of Perryville, about 7 o'clock, he was halted by four armed men, who demanded his money. There being no other alternative, the "Judge" handed over his pocket book containing $24 and a valuable gold watch. He did not recognize any of the party.—Harrisburg News.

The report of the State Board of Equalization for the present year places the number of acres of land in the State of Kentucky at twenty-five millions, an increase of one million over former estimates. The cash value of the State of Kentucky is placed at $70 per acre; that of Bourbon and Woodford at $60; of Jefferson, $50; of Kenton, $55; of Campbell and Mason, $50; of Boyle and Jessamine, $45, the balance of the counties running lower; an average of 50 per cent of its cash value.

A gigantic whisky monopoly has been consummated under the title of the "Distillers and Cattle Feeders Trust," with a capital of $100,000,000. It will be upon par with the Standard Oil Company and the American Cotton Oil Trust. At the meeting in Chicago on Saturday a Board of Directors was elected to serve until April next, and it is feared will be the power to keep down production, and it is estimated that about eighty per cent of the distillers throughout the country will join the association. Of course the twenty per cent balance will be smashed by their powerful opposition, and this, in spite of popular prejudice, another monopoly of the same proportion and objectionable features has sprung into existence.—Covington Commonwealth.

Mrs. Sarah Jackson died at "The Hermitage" near Nashville last week, aged eighty-one, leaving two children—Col. Andrew Jackson, of West Point, who was an artillery officer in the late war on the Southern side, and made a reputation; and Mrs. Dr. John Lawrence. One son, Samuel, was killed at Chickamauga. Mrs. Sarah Jackson, now remembered by but few people, was for four years, or nearly four years, the most prominent lady of the land, the mistress of the White House. About the commencement of Gen. Jackson's second term his adopted son, Andrew Jackson, Jr., married Miss Sarah York, of Philadelphia, a young lady of accomplishments, a good family, and great personal beauty. The adopted son, who was a nephew of Mrs. Jackson, brought his young bride to the White House, where she was received by the President, who was a widower. Mrs. Jackson having died after his first election, and before he became President. She proved to be a most devoted daughter and loving wife.

A STORY.
That Will Come True.
I am satisfied every person has read my urgent call to call and settle accounts that were due last July. There are many who are still owing me, and I am going to treat all alike and if you want to save cost you had best call and pay up your bill now. I hope you will comply early.

The new church at Woodbine is a large commodious one, neat and tasty, and it speaks for the enterprise and liberality of the citizens of that place. It was dedicated free of debt and stands a rare collection was taken up as it is usually the case on such occasions. This is the third church built in that village in a short time, and they are now calling for a school. One gentleman offers to take a $2,000 stock in a college to be located there.—Williamsburg Times.

For sometime a division has existed in the Christian Church of this city, in regard to the use of instrumental music in the church and Sunday school services. A majority of the members were in favor of it, while a large minority were conscientiously opposed to it. This diversity of opinion culminated Sunday in the withdrawal by letter of the following persons: A. C. Barrow and wife, J. W. Harding and wife, Jas. Nelson and wife, G. W. Proctor, G. M. Proctor, Mrs. Joe Brown, W. F. Neal and wife, W. K. Harding and wife, Mrs. Nancy Owens, Mrs. Lizzie Smith, Jonathan Trowbridge, W. K. Harding, Misses Mamie and Maggie Harding, John G. Lockman, wife and two daughters, making a total of twenty-three persons. Some of these members will unite with the various churches in the country and others will form a separate congregation in this city. It is probable that the Opera House will be secured for a while until other arrangements can be made. Services will be held next Sunday at 11 A. M., at the residence of Eld. J. W. Harding.—Winchester Democrat.
